6. Who we act for

IFS is responsible for the financial services and financial products we provide to you under our AFSL. IFS acts as an issuer, market-maker and dealer in its financial products. This means that IFS is not an agent for any other financial services licensees, but the principal and counterparty to all transactions with you.

7. Compensation Arrangements

IFS has professional indemnity insurance in place, which satisfies the requirements for compensation arrangements pursuant to section 912B of the Corporations Act. Our insurance policy covers claims made against IFS in relation to services provided by our representatives, employees and authorised representatives (if any) who worked with IFS at the time of the relevant conduct, even if they no longer work for IFS.

8. Product Costs, Remuneration and Benefits

Product costs and remuneration

Our PDS (which references our Product Schedule available on our website), provides details regarding transaction fees and costs associated with holding an account with us and trading our financial products. You must agree to these fees and costs prior to the commencement of your transaction with us. Applicable transaction fees and costs may vary according to the type and level of service provided, and the size and frequency of the transaction.

We earn our revenue from the spread in the price of our products and the volume traded. The spread means the difference between the bid price (price at which IFS buys/you sell) and the offer price (price at which IFS sells/you buy) for the base currency expressed against the terms currency. The size of the spread may differ depending on the specific currency pair or derivative product traded. Aside from spread, IFS may also charge commission on certain financial products.

Fees, costs and benefits when trading in our products may include any or all of the following:

- Rollover (swap) charge or benefit calculated at our rollover (swap) rates;
- Interest charges applied to debit balances;
- Corporate action charges or benefits;
- Conversion fees; and
- Administration charges (bank and exchange fees related to your account).

Benefits received by third-party referrers

An amount calculated based on commission or spread on our products acquired by you may be paid to third parties (if you have been referred to IFS by a third party). Since such payments may be considered “conflicted remuneration” under the Corporations Act (2001), they will only be made with your explicit consent and you are entitled to receive full details regarding such payment upon written request.

However, an amount, which may be calculated by reference to the commission or spread on our products acquired by you, may be paid to third parties or employees without your express consent where such payments are unlikely to be deemed “conflicted remuneration” under the Corporations Act (2001). Any such payment will be paid by us and not by you.

If you are unsure whether these arrangements apply to you, please contact the referring third party or us.

Benefits received by our staff

IFS' employees are remunerated by way of salary and other employee benefits. A discretionary cash bonus may be paid to employees as part of their remuneration, based on their individual performance, the performance of their business unit and/or IFS as a whole. In addition, IFS' employees may also earn performance-based commissions and/or other monetary rewards, calculated by reference to predetermined business objectives that may include contribution to company profitability, client service, risk management and marketing.

9. Conflicts of Interest

IFS, its associates and/or other persons connected with IFS may have an interest, relationship or arrangement that is material in relation to any products entered into with us. We may provide services to third parties whose interests may be in conflict (taking an opposite position) or competition (to acquire the same or similar position) with your interests. We will not act in a way that would deliberately favour the position of another party over you or vice versa. IFS is an OTC contracts issuer and not an agent.

Accordingly, you will be trading these financial products directly with us and not on any financial market or exchange. As the contract issuer, we set the prices that refer to, but may not always be the same as, those in the Underlying Market. We will always act as principal, not as an agent, for our own benefit in respect of all of our transactions with you.

There are no associations or relationships between IFS or any related body corporate and the issuers of any financial products, being associations or relationships that might reasonably be expected to be capable of influencing IFS in providing any of our authorised services.

10. Complaints and Dispute Resolution

IFS has an internal dispute resolution process in place to resolve any complaints or concerns you may have, quickly and fairly. Any complaints or concerns should be directed to the Complaints Officer (by telephone, facsimile, or letter) at the address and telephone/fax numbers provided in this FSG. Your written notice should specify the nature of the complaint, including all relevant details, as well as your designed outcome and how this may occur.

We will provide acknowledgement of receipt of written complaints within five (5) business days and seek to resolve and respond to complaints within forty-five (45) days of receipt. We will investigate your complaint and provide you with our decision, including the reasons on which it is based, in writing.

If you are dissatisfied with the outcome, you have the right to lodge a complaint with the Australian Financial Complaints Authority or 'AFCA', which is a new external dispute resolution ('EDR') scheme to deal with complaints from consumers in the financial system. Importantly, AFCA replaces the three existing EDR schemes of the Financial Ombudsman Service ('FOS'), the Credit and Investments Ombudsman ('CIO') and Superannuation Complaints Tribunal ('SCT') so that consumers have access to a single EDR scheme.

Using AFCA is free to consumers. If you would like to access the scheme, please lodge a complaint:

Online: www.afca.org.au

Email: info@afca.org.au

Phone: 1800 931 678

You may also make a complaint to ASIC via its free call info line on 1300 300 630 (for Australian residents).

We will require you to provide personal information in the course of transacting with us.
